COURSE BACKGROUND

The workshop will commence with a session to meet the people who will shape the future of the company. Understanding the people within the management team will be a critical component to building the team to deliver the Vision, Mission and Values in the future.

After the current Vision, Mission and Values are defined, the group will create the 'perfect future' for the company using these components. All businesses have a 'current reality' and defining what that reality is will be critical to any future action plans for the company.

During the workshop an action plan will be designed to implement the Vision, Mission and Values along with a communication strategy to deliver the plan to all staff members. Any plan of action will not be successful without the constant review and evaluation. These items will be addressed prior to finalizing day two of the workshop
